

Tree of Life, A Tempus project.

A mess can be a masterpiece. It's just your perspective, which makes all the difference. That is what makes art unique. Every viewer's imagination narrates a different story about the same piece.

Thus, to explore new ideas, the first project of Team Tempus, in Punjab, is to paint a 'A Tree of Life' with the children of 'Satya Bharti' - a school for the underprivileged. By keeping the motto of 'art for art's sake' alive, we aim at teaching these children the skill of fine arts.

Six of the best artists- Jahnvi Uppal, Ishita Sood, Riya Jain, Ria Rawat, Harsheen Arneja, and Vani Kumar- of Sat Paul Mittal School, Ludhiana will introduce underprivileged children to the world of color, where they can let their imagination run wild and narrate their own story. Therefore, by teaching these children the concept of art, we hope that their stories turn out to be as bright as a world full of colour.
