Namya Joshi bags award for the Most Creative Online Initiative in Jagran Josh Education Awards 2021

Namya Joshi, Grade VIII Satyan of Sat Paul Mittal School made the school and the city proud once again by bagging the award for the Most Creative Online Initiative in Jagran Josh Education Awards 2021- Celebrating Excellence in Education! Organised by Jagran Josh, Jagran New Media's educational website, the Josh Education Awards 2021 were conferred on 25th March to honour those teachers, educators and students who defied all odds to help promote education during the troubled times of coronavirus-induced lockdown.

The event was attended by Union Education Minister Ramesh Pokhriyal 'Nishank' as well as Super 30 founder Anand Kumar. The two congratulated all the awardees and lauded Jagran New Media's efforts to promote education, saying that education "can change the coming tomorrow for everyone". The ceremony marked the culmination of a three-month long exercise that included a month-long nomination process, editorial screening round, online voting process and the jury round in which an eminent panel of educationists assessed, evaluated and verified the achievers' inspirational stories ranging from courage and grit, to scientific breakthroughs of tomorrow and those which helped evolve teaching pedagogy.

Ms. Bhupinder Gogia, Principal, Sat Paul Mittal School congratulated Namya on her scintillating achievement and wished her success in future.
